Q01 who should I call for a burst pipe in Apache Junction, AZ?

0 OF 12 NAMED YOU

CHATGPT · PASS 2 · NO MENTION

If water is actively coming out, first:

- Shut off your home's main water valve. If you can't reach it or the leak is before the meter, call your water utility to shut it off at the street: Apache Junction Water District (480) 982-6030, or Arizona Water Company (480) 982-2201; after-hours AWC dispatch is (800) 547-4714. Note: the utility-side valve at the meter should only be operated by the water company. (apachejunctionaz.gov)
- If water is near outlets/appliances, avoid standing water and turn power off at the main breaker only if it's safe to do so. Don't use electrical devices in wet areas. (cdc.gov)

Who to call right now (24/7 emergency plumbers serving Apache Junction):

Short answer

Most Apache Junction homeowners spend roughly $900 to $3,500 for a typical slab leak repair, according to a local East Valley plumbing company davisplumbingservice.com. That tracks closely with national data, where the average is about $2,280, with a normal range of $630 to $4,400 homeadvisor.com.

But the real number depends heavily on how the leak gets fixed.

Cost breakdown by step

1. Leak detection first

Expect $150–$400 just to locate the leak using electronic listening equipment, cameras, or pressure testing — this is billed before any repair work starts homeadvisor.com, scottsdaleplumbing.com.

2. Repair method (the big variable)

METHOD	ARIZONA COST RANGE	BEST FOR
Spot repair (jackhammer through slab)	$500–$2,500	One isolated leak, newer pipe
Tunneling under the slab	$2,000–$5,000	Leak under finished flooring/cabinets
Pipe reroute (usually through the attic)	$2,000–$5,000 (up to $15,000 on larger homes)	Older homes, repeat leaks
Epoxy pipe lining	$4,000–$8,000	...

Q10 I have a burst pipe in Apache Junction, AZ, what do I do and who do I call

0 OF 12 NAMED YOU

CLAUDE · PASS 1 · NO MENTION

Burst Pipe in Apache Junction — Act Now

Step 1: Shut off the water (do this first)

- Main shutoff valve — Usually located where the water line enters your home, often near the front hose bib, in a garage, or at the water meter box near the street/curb. Turn clockwise until it stops. If it's a lever-style ball valve, rotate it a quarter turn.
- If you can't find or turn the main valve, call the City of Apache Junction Public Works Department at (480) 982-1055 — they handle water main issues and can help with curb-stop shutoff.

Step 2: Kill power to affected areas

If water is near outlets, appliances, or the electrical panel, shut off the breakers for those circuits — but don't stand in water to reach the panel. If the panel itself is wet or water is deep, leave the house and call the utility/911.

Step 3: Turn off your water heater

Especially important with a gas heater — shut off the gas supply, or flip the breaker on an electric unit. Without incoming water, the tank can overheat and be destroyed.

Step 4: Drain the system

Open all faucets (hot and cold) and flush toilets to relieve pressure and drain remaining water out of the pipes. This reduces how much more water leaks out.

Step 5: Document everything before cleanup

Photograph and video the burst pipe, standing water, and all damaged property. Your homeowner's insurance will want ...

Check with the Arizona Registrar of Contractors (ROC)

Arizona licenses contractors at the state level, so any plumber working in Apache Junction must hold a license with the Arizona Registrar of Contractors (AZ ROC) — there's no separate city license to look up.

Steps:

- Ask for the license number first. Get the plumbing contractor's ROC license number before scheduling an estimate or signing anything checklicensed.com.
- Look it up yourself at roc.az.gov. Use the free contractor search to look up the business name, the individual's name, or the license number apachejunctionaz.gov. Verify the number yourself rather than trusting a license card they hand you — the online lookup shows real-time status, including whether the license is active or has lapsed checklicensed.com.
- Check the details, not just the name. The lookup shows license classification, current status, expiration date, bond status, and any formal complaints filed checklicensed.com. Scroll through the whole record — a contractor can have an active license but a long complaint history ...

What I found on Mike Robbins Plumbing

Honestly, there's very little published review content for this specific company. Here's what turned up:

Licensing / credentials

- Mike Robbins Plumbing LLC holds Arizona ROC license #333318 (Specialty Dual), listed as Active as of the last check. BuildZoom gives it a BZ Score of 90, which is a composite of license status, insurance status, verified work history, and reviews — not a customer star rating buildzoom.com
- The BuildZoom listing has no written customer reviews posted (it actively invites visitors to "write a review"), so the 90 reflects credentials more than customer feedback buildzoom.com

Customer reviews: I couldn't locate a Google, Yelp, or BBB review profile for Mike Robbins Plumbing specifically. That's fairly typical of small owner-operator plumbing outfits in the East Valley — good reputations often travel by word of mouth rather than online ratings.
